

African Underground Mining Services (AUMS) is committed to effective environmental management as a component of a well-managed operation. We accept that our activities, products and services can cause adverse impacts on the environment.

The Company will take all reasonably practicable steps to:

- Manage the environmental aspects and impacts of our operations to prevent pollution and minimise significant adverse impacts;
- Comply with the applicable legal and client environmental requirements;
- Return each site to a safe and stable condition with environmental, heritage and conservation values intact.

To achieve this AUMS will within the scope of our contractual responsibilities:

- Develop, implement and monitor an environmental management plan in combination with our clients;
- Provide training to enable employees to recognise, manage the potential environmental impact of their activities;
- Operate and decommission all sites and associated infrastructure to avoid environmental impact.

AUMS workers have the responsibility to comply with the company's environmental systems and to take reasonable care to protect the environment.
